evocos launches new website for its event & delegate management solution

2nd September 2009, Guildford, Surrey: evocos, a leading provider of event management software solutions, has launched an updated version of their website. The original site went live in April 2009 and has recently had some major revisions and additions.

The website has been designed as an online resource for event managers within all industry sectors, with information from how to manage events using the latest software, how to manage events in the recession, all the way through to details on the evocos event management software solution. evocos Marketing Manager, Kate Oxtan says: "At evocos we have always taken our customers and their requirements very seriously; this new website has been created as a result from us talking and listening to our customers, and taking their views and requests on board."

The updated website provides visitors with access to detailed information regarding the evocos event and delegate management solution. It includes information on functionality, as well as return on investment and pricing models. Visitors can also choose to download whitepapers, sign up to a webinar or request a personal 1-2-1 demonstration of the event and delegate management solution.

The website is already proving extremely popular, "We're being inundated with requests for demos and information, which just shows what a powerful tool the website can be. We're looking forward to developing the site in the future – we'll be adding new functionality to it very soon!" said Kate.

evocos is an industry leader in the provision of event management software. The fully integrated software has the power to manage entire events from delegate registration and payment, through to online feedback and reporting.
